T-Notes

I can't believe summer is finally here. The unusual weather patterns this spring ranging from an extended dry period, to weeks of heavy rain, have water suppliers guessing on their future water demand.

Now that the warm weather is here, construction activities are becoming fast and furious. Our industry faces challenges in trying to deal with the high cost of water works materials. Distributors are facing daily price increases for some materials like copper tubing.

Contractors are having a very difficult time bidding projects, as they have no idea the cost of fuels and materials over the next several months. As new projects are bid, municipalities will be seeing significant increases in the cost of a project.

On a positive note, summer time means the annual PCWWA clambake is just around the corner. I would like to remind all members that we have an exciting new venue for the clambake this year. It is going to be held at the Ridder Country Club in East Bridgewater.

There are no limitations on the amount of tickets we can sell, and vendors will have a beautiful large area in which they can set up their displays.

There will be additional information mailed to all members, and details will be posted on our web site. I look forward to seeing everybody there, and I hope all members enjoy their summer.

Sincerely,

John F. Tetreault
President
